Headline:
Rain for many at first. Improving during the afternoon.

Today:
A spell of heavy rain will affect most counties at first, slowly clearing east during the morning. Remaining largely dry and bright in Oxfordshire, Berkshire and Buckinghamshire though, these conditions extending to the rest of the region during the afternoon. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
A dry and largely clear evening and night with light winds but cold, with patchy low cloud over the hills and a chance of ground frost in rural parts. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
Cloud will rapidly become widespread during the morning, bringing a spell of showery rain, perhaps locally heavy in the afternoon. Becoming drier from the west later. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Friday, mostly cloudy with afternoon showers, locally heavy. Clear skies and widespread frost overnight. Isolated showers on Saturday. Sunday, cold and windy with a chance of snow showers. Turning colder.
